ONE OF THE GREAT VINTAGE OF RECENT YEARS

Winter rains replenished soil water reserves. Spring was mild and dry, with no frost, and the vines grew well.

Early May was warm and humid, and the vineyard greened almost before our eyes. From May 20th onwards, an early, even and compact flowering suggested strong qualitative potential.

By mid-June, a hot and dry summer had set in. These conditions continued through July and August, with temperatures comfortably exceeding 30°C. The soils were dry at the surface, but the deep roots of the old vines were able to draw on the reserves necessary for the quality of the bunches.

The ripening period was excellent: early, warm and luminous, with significant diurnal temperature variation. The grapes soaked up the sun and evolved rapidly while retaining their freshness. A few refreshing showers at the end of August helped to limit stress.

Harvest began at the end of August with the Sauvignon Blanc. We selected only golden, perfectly ripe bunches, picked exclusively in the cool of the morning. This meticulous work was completed on September 6th.

The reds follow on September 11th with the Merlot. The final Cabernet Sauvignon brought the harvest to a close on September 26th.

These excellent harvesting conditions were punctuated by small, beneficial showers after a hot, dry summer. Yields were satisfactory.

The pulpy, fruit-driven richness, freshness, precision and aromatic complexity define this outstanding 2025 vintage. In both red and white, modernity and intensity express themselves with finesse, energy and great class, highlighting the legendary elegance of the wines of Chevalier. A great vintage.

Olivier Bernard

TASTING

This 2025 vintage of Domaine de Chevalier unquestionably stands among the great vintage of the past decade. Its style conveys great class and refinement, set within a framework of remarkable freshness.

Indeed, the various grape varieties that compose the blend (Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon and Petit Verdot) achieved full ripeness without excess, contributing decisively to this sense of freshness. Excellent climatic conditions allowed for very precisely timed harvest dates and ensured impeccable sanitary quality. Vinifications were precise and carefully adapted.

On the nose, fresh red and black fruits intertwine with empyreumatic and spicy notes characteristic of the terroir. The expression and intensity of this bouquet are highly promising.

On the palate, a velvety, fleshy and delicate texture, intensely driven by fruit, envelops a tannic framework whose density, finesse and elegance are reminiscent of silk. The superb maturity of the tannins brings great suppleness to this fresh yet dense structure, already delivering intense and rare pleasure at this stage.

A finish of great class. A great wine.
